Constitutional Delegates Tomorrow.

Columbus, O., Jan. 30.—President Taft is a guest of the city of Columbus today and has been on the go since 9:30 o'clock this morning, when he was met at the Union station by a committee from the chamber of commerce and escorted to the Southern hotel. The military organizations taking part in the parade included four companies of infantry from the Columbus barracks, Colonel W. B. Chamberlain commanding; Troop B, O. N. C. Lieutenant Ben Chamberlain commanding and several local organizations including the Boy Scouts.

High street was gaily decorated and the street was thronged with people who loudly cheered as the presidential procession moved southward from the Union station.

At the Southern hotel a reception was held by members of the Buckeye Republican club, delegates to the constitutional convention, state and city officials, was held until 11:30, when the president was escorted to a Virginia hotel, where he was guest of honor at a luncheon given by the chamber of commerce. Those who sat at the president's table were President Taft, President Herbst of the chamber of commerce, Bishop Hart, Congressman Taylor, Major Billard Butt, Governor Harmon, J. M. Taylor and Mayor Karb. Short speeches were made by President Taft and Congressman Taylor.

Start For Federal Building.

At 12 o'clock the party left the hotel for the federal building, under a military escort, the federal troops being stationed around the building under direction of the secret service men who accompanied President Taft from Washington.

Governor Harmon will preside at the dedication ceremonies and will receive the president. There will be music and an address by Judge J. Sauer, the ceremonies concluding with an address by the president.

This evening the president will be guest of the Columbus Republican Club at their McKinley day banquet at the Southern hotel. In addition to the president, other speakers will be Job E. Hedges of New York city, Warren G. Harding of Marion and Congressman E. Fair of this city.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 30.—After two hours of rioting, during which the lawless woolen and cotton mill strikers had full control of the streets of this city, there was a pitched battle between the police and militia on one side and about 1,000 strikers, near the Everett mills. The affray resulted in the killing of an Italian woman who was standing on the sidewalk, the stabbing of Patrolman Oscar Benoit, and sore heads for many of the rioters, who were finally put to flight.

The woman killed was the victim of senseless shooting by one of the mob, who seemed to be taking great joy in firing revolver bullets into the ground on the opposite side of Union street from the woman. His identity was not learned and no arrests were made. Neither the police nor militiamen fired a shot during the battle.

Governor Foss in Boston ordered out 12 more companies of infantry, two troops of cavalry and 50 metropolitan police for the purpose of assisting in maintaining order at Lawrence. Today there are 1,400 officers and men on duty.

Ohio Tax Commission Opposes Classification of Property.

Columbus, O., Jan. 30.—In its report to Governor Harmon the state tax commission will take an unqualified stand against the proposed classification of property for taxation purposes, which is being urged by the state board of commerce and others as a solution for the taxation problem in Ohio.

"A half-way measure at best," "ingenious device for shifting the burden of taxes to the shoulders of those least able to bear it," are phrases applied to the classification idea. Instead of taxation inequalities being the fault of the present constitution, they are the fault of the legislature, which has failed to enact proper laws to put the constitution into force, the commission thinks.

Ask That Pike
Be Abolished

Columbus, O., Jan. 30.—Blame for an alleged shortage in funds in Pike county under the Smith 1 per cent act is put on assessors in a statement issued by the Ohio tax commission. The statement is an answer to a proposal of citizens that the county organization be dissolved and that Pike be attached to some other county.

Keeping Order In the Great
Textile Strike at Lawrence

Photos by American Press Association.

Two unusual incidents marked the strike disturbances at Lawrence, Mass., where 30,000 operatives of the textile mills went out in bitter winter weather. Hundreds of militia were on duty and on occasion used their bayonets with serious effect, but on one of the coldest days the guardians of the strike breakers resorted to the device of drenching the strikers with water from fire hose. At another time an Italian striker, bearing an American flag, tried to pass the lines, saying, "This flag can go anywhere." The officer in charge ordered his men to salute the flag and, this done, to charge with bayonets, and the crowd was thus dispersed. The upper picture illustrates the flag incident, the lower the use of the hose.

by Vote of 210 to 109.

STORMY SCENES ENACTED

Representative Mann (III.) Protests Against Use of Steam Roller, but Effort to Secure Unlimited Debate on Free List Is Unsuccessful. Twenty-one Republicans Vote With Majority and Three Democrats With Minority.

Washington, Jan. 30.—By a vote of 210 to 109, the Democratic bill revising the iron and steel schedule of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law was passed by the house. The Republican minority became indignant at the reversal of Majority Leader Underwood to permit unlimited discussion of the free list paragraph in the measure, and by numerous amendments and ceaseless calls for "division and tellers" succeeded in delaying action on the bill for several hours.

On final passage 21 Republicans and Representative Berger of Wisconsin, the lone Socialist, voted with the Democrats for the measure. The Republicans were Representatives

Jackson, Murdock and Young of Kansas, Alkin of New York, Davis and Lindbergh of Minnesota, Haugen, Woods and Hubbard of Iowa, Warburton and LaFollette of Washington, Lenroot, Moore and Nelson of Wisconsin, Norris, Sloan and Kinkead of Nebraska, Kent and Stephens of California, Lafferty of Oregon and Helgerson of North Dakota.

Three Democrats Balk.

Three Democrats, Martin, Rucker and Taylor of Colorado, voted with the Republicans against the steel bill. In the Democratic caucus, held a week ago to indorse the measure, these members explained that they were pledged to their constituents to vote for higher duties on lead and zinc than were provided by the bill, and by a caucus rule covering the case were excused from being bound by the caucus action.

The scenes in the house just before voting by the rollcall were disorderly in the extreme. Minority Leader Mann had repeatedly protested against the course of Majority Leader Underwood in moving to cut off debate on each paragraph and amendment before all the Republican members who had expressed a desire to speak had an opportunity to do so, and when Mr. Underwood unable to induce Mr. Mann to agree to limit debate to what he considered a reasonable time, finally started the steam roller working and moved that the bill be put on its final pass-

Charge That New Attendant Is Bell Lobbyist Creates Discord on Floor of Constitutional Convention and Hoskins Warns Members Not to Make Themselves Ridiculous In Eyes of People—Halfhill's Resolution to Restrict Scope Is Tabled.

Columbus, O., Jan. 30.—On the floor of the constitutional convention a warm debate was precipitated over the question as to whether or not Val Stokely of Greenville, telephone attendant for the Central Union company, is a lobbyist. After repeated assertions that Stokely was a lobbyist and equally vehement denials of the charge by Stokely's friends, it was left to the committee on employees to ascertain his position.

Delegate Thomas of Cuyahoga brought up the question, declaring that the removal of Simon Cronin of Akron, in accordance with a resolution last week, was followed by putting in his understudy. He asserted Stokely was rejected as a telephone attendant by the last senate.

Would Remove Telephones. Mr. Doty of Cuyahoga suggested the removal of telephones, while Delaney, Beatty of Wood and Wagner of Darke sprung to Stokely's defense with declarations that both knew him and that he was not a lobbyist. Mr. Hoskins of Auglaize said he wasn't afraid of being approached by a lobbyist, and added: "This convention must be careful that it doesn't make itself ridiculous before the people of the state."

Fredricks Sure of Indictment. Tampa, Fla., Jan. 30.—"There was no chance for Darrow to escape," remarked District Attorney J. D. Fredricks of Los Angeles, when shown dispatches announcing the indictment of Clarence Darrow. "We knew when Juror Bain took his seat that he had been bribed and we knew who did it."

Operators Unwilling to Adopt Proposal of Miners.

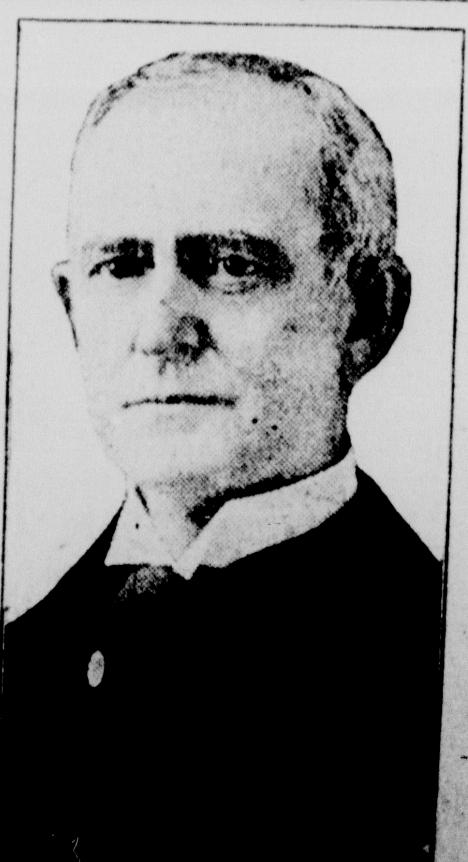

Indianapolis, Jan. 30.—In the joint conference of the miners and operators, in the effort to agree on a scale of wages, the operators took a decided ground against the unlimited "check off" demand of the miners' committee. The demand would require the operators to check off from a miner's wages any sum that the organization might demand that he pay into the union and pay this sum to the treasurer of the local organization.

Beat Daughter With Strop. Delaware, O., Jan. 30.—C. L. Welch, 48, farmer, was arraigned before Squire Arthur White on an affidavit charging assault with intent to kill upon his daughter Florence, 23, a school teacher. Her screams brought neighbors to her assistance.

Two Women Railway Agents Sisters and Live at Orient

Responsible Positions Held by Women, Who Know What Real Railroading Is--Cool During Recent Disastrous Wreck.

Myrta and May Snider, sisters, are the transportation managers of the little town of Orient, which has been in the limelight so much recently, due to the disastrous wreck and Hagelganz murder.

It is seldom that a woman is given a position as station-master for a railroad--a position that requires a knowledge of telegraphy, baggage-smashing, ticket-selling, tending to mail, and giving and taking train orders. It's not every man that can handle such a position successfully. Both are experts and Orient is justly proud of them.

Miss Myrta Snider, the older of the sisters, has charge of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad station during the daytime, and Miss May Snider manages the Ohio Electric railway station.

The young women live in a small house which is about half way between the two stations and Miss May is the housekeeper.

Their father, William Snider, was a railroad man all his life, and the girls come by the instinct naturally. At one time the father was in the freight department of the B. & O. in Columbus. During that time Miss Myrta was just a slip of a girl and went to North High school. Miss May secured her education in the schools of Buffalo, N. Y.

When Miss Myrta Snider first took her position in the B. & O. station at Orient, she was bothered by patients from the imbecile asylum nearby, who wanted to make her office a loafing place. But Miss Snider would not stand for tobacco smoke and ordered them out in tones which they understood. Orient people like to tell of the time a drunken man insisted on bothering the new station agent. As the story goes, the drunkard was waltzed to the station platform and there rolled in the snow by Miss Snider, who would pass as a college athlete.

During the recent wreck of freight trains near Orient, in which three persons met their death, Miss Myrta Snider was the calmest person on the scene. Many station agents would have been nervous, but Miss Snider realized that the wreck was no fault of her own and that the engineer of one of the trains had forgotten his orders and was responsible, and she managed the wreck admirably.

Preliminaries Made for Debate

On next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock the first of the series of debates preliminary to the triangular debate in which Chillicothe, Washington, C. H., and Circleville, will participate, will be held in the high school auditorium in Chillicothe, and will be followed by another on Tuesday, and a third on Wednesday afternoon. All three debates will commence at 3 o'clock.

The question to be debated in both the preliminaries and the triangular debate is, "Resolved that the commission form of municipal government is preferable to the present form in Ohio."

Some 24 pupils will participate in the preliminaries and good teams will be secured from each school.

Humane Society Organized Includes City and County

Men interested in Humane Work Meet in Probate Judge's Office Monday Afternoon and Perfect Organization.

Washington and Fayette county now have a Humane Society or rather will have as soon as a charter is granted and organization perfected.

Monday afternoon a dozen men met at the probate judge's office in the court house and organized the society, which will be known as "The Humane Society of Fayette County".

For some time this movement has been contemplated, but nothing definite was accomplished until Monday when a meeting was called for the purpose of organizing the society, which was done accordingly.

While only one dozen persons were present to form the organization, it is expected that the society will, as soon as in active operation, have a much larger membership, as a great many persons have expressed a desire to become members.

At the meeting Dr. C. E. Page was made chairman and presided over the meeting. Those who had gathered for the purpose of organizing were: Tolon E. Brown, Pope Gregg, Ray F. Zaner, Dr. C. E. Page, A. E. Henkle, B. E. Kelley, Rev. Bowman Hostetter, E. J. Light, S. O. Nelson, Judge A. C. Patton and Dr. R. M. Hughey.

In the organization Dr. C. E. Page was elected president; Judge A. C. Patton, vice president; Ray F. Zaner, secretary; E. J. Light, treasurer; A. E. Henkle, E. J. Light, Pope Gregg and Dr. R. M. Hughey, board of directors; Prosecuting Attorney Pope Gregg, council; Rev. Bowman Hostetter, Ray F. Zaner and B. E. Kelley, committee on constitution and by-laws. Adjournment was made to meet at call of the president.

Application will be made at once for a charter from the Secretary of State, and as soon as it is received, other steps will be taken toward selecting agents or humane officers.

The object of the society, like that of any Humane society, is to prevent cruelty to children and animals, and to bring to justice those who are guilty of such crime.

It has been a great many years since an active Humane society was in existence in Washington, and the need of such a society has been felt for a long time.

Ratio of Victims Six to 100,000

About six persons in every 100,000 in the United States were murdered in 1910. This estimate is made Dr. Creasy L. Wikburn, chief statistician of vital statistics of the census bureau. The attributes to homicidal causes 3,190 of the 48,606 deaths from violence in that year. This is at the rate of 5.9 per 100,000, as against 5.6 in 1909, in 1908, and 6.3 in 1907.

Violent deaths resulted to 90,3 persons in every 100,000 in 1910, and in 1909 only 85.8 in the same number met death in the same manner.

Railroads killed the greatest number and 7,877 deaths are reported from injuries from that source. This is an increase to 14.6 in every 100,000 population over 12.1 in 1909.

In some cities of 100,000 population the number of violent deaths were:

Indianapolis, 205; Louisville, 156; Detroit, 400; Grand Rapids, 66; Cincinnati, 351; Cleveland, 471; Columbus, 206; Dayton, 101; Toledo, 129.

THE EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN.

HORSE THIEF WINS BRIDE AND CREDIT

Posing as Heir, Bogus "Jess Rankin's" Career Stopped by Arrest After Wedding.

SENTENCED TO PRISON

Wife Will Seek Annulment of Marriage and Friends Count Loans as Lost--Disputed Identity With Son of Missouri's Biggest Farmer.

Council Bluffs, Ia.--It is a far cry from a fated bridegroom at a wedding breakfast with unlimited credit and tradesmen begging his favors to a numbered convict in the Missouri penitentiary, with his hair cropped, but James Milliken made the change within five days. In the first role he was known as Jess Rankin, son of the late David Rankin of Tarkio, Mo., the largest farmer in the world, and in his latter role he was known as James Milliken of Tarkio, indicted at Kansas City for horse stealing before he introduced himself as heir to the largest farm in Missouri and Iowa.

The arrest was made in the presence of his bride of an hour, who was Miss Edna Blumenstein, and his wedding guests. His wife will ask annulment of the marriage.

So stoutly did Milliken maintain he was the real "Jess Rankin" that he contended in the courtroom with the true Rankin as to which was the masquerader. It was not until several old schoolmates of Rankin were produced and positively identified their friend that Milliken acknowledged his deception. But by that time his bride had returned to her mother.

According to the real Rankin, who came to Council Bluffs to defend his name, this is not the first time Milliken has passed himself off as the Tarkio man. Instead there are numerous instances in which Milliken succeeded in "flying high" at the expense of the Missouri farmer. But never before did the pretender carry his deception to the point of marrying an innocent girl, as he did in the Council Bluffs case.

Six weeks previous Milliken appeared in Council Bluffs and registered at the best hotel under the name of "Jess Rankin".

Rankin is one of the best-known names in southwestern Iowa, where the Rankins of Tarkio own thousands of acres of the best land in the state. But, fortunately for the masquerader, young Rankin himself was known here only by reputation—not by sight. And for six weeks Milliken lived in clover. As "young Rankin" of Tarkio he could have anything he wanted.

He lived at the most expensive cafes. He continued his residence at the hotel. He gave dinners to new friends. Cigars, by the box, were sent to his room and "charged." His credit at the bank would have been good for $5,000 or more, on a check, but not a scratch of the pen did the fellow make in that direction. He cashed no checks.

He borrowed from every one with whom he came in contact. "Completely busted," he would laugh. "Spent my last cent. Hand it back first time I go near the bank." It was a good joke, this catching young Rankin, heir to 50,000 acres, without a red cent to his name.

Rankin met Miss Edna Blumenstein, whose father is an employee of the Northwestern railroad. He made love violently, just as he did everything else.

As a wedding present, "Rankin" determined to give to his bride the "very best auto that money could buy." So, for a week, they sailed around Omaha and Council Bluffs in different automobiles which they were trying, while the bridegroom made up his mind as to the one he wanted. "Going to give the little girl anything she wants," he told the dealers. "That's young Rankin of Tarkio. Got money enough to buy every car in the house and not miss it," the salesman whispered to the managers.

Then came the marriage with Miss Blumenstein, followed by the wedding breakfast at one of the prominent cafes. In the midst thereof, Chief of Police Frome walked in, laid his hands on "Rankin's" shoulder and said: "I want you, Milliken." He was turned over to the Missouri authorities, taken to Kansas City, pleaded guilty and was sent to the penitentiary for ten years.

Insane in Institutions

Reach Startling Totals

A special census of 372 institutions for the care of the insane was taken by the United States Census Bureau in 1910, and the number of insane persons in the institutions on January 1 of that year was found to be 187,454. The number admitted during 1910 was 60,603 and the number discharged was 53,880.

A special census taken in 1904 showed the number in institutions to be 150,151 and the number of persons committed during that year was 49,622. In the six years from 1904 to 1910 there was an increase of 37,303, or 24.8 per cent, of the patients confined, and an increase of 10,981, or 22.1 per cent of the number annually committed to such asylums.

The number of insane in asylums per one hundred thousand of population in 1904 was 186.2; in 1910 it was 203.8. The annual commitments per one hundred thousand of population increased from 61.5 in 1904 to 65.9 in 1910, showing an increase of 4.4 in 1910. This includes only those committed to hospitals; and the increase may be due to an extension of this method of care for the insane and also to the increase in the number of institutions, which amounted to 13 per cent.

Massachusetts had the largest number of insane persons in institutions on Jan. 1, 1910, amounting to 344.6 per one hundred thousand of population, while New York had 343.4 per one hundred thousand of population.

These states are probably better provided with institutions than most other states and besides have patients from other states. The District of Columbia exceeds both of these states in the number of patients in institutions, for the District contains the government hospital, which draws patients from a much wider area than any of the states.

The number of the insane in hospitals for the insane in the states south and west is much less than in the east. In the states west of the Mississippi River, owing to the rapid increase in population largely from the eastern states, the number of insane is less, because the population represents a class in which sanity is less prevalent; also provisions for the care of insane in the states probably has not kept pace with the increase in population.

The engagement of Miss Florence Sexton and Mrs. Harold Inskeep was announced Monday night at a brilliant little dinner given by Miss Anna Rowe, who is home from the Ohio State University for the semester vacation.

The table was laid with eight covers and its dainty embellishment of pink and white sweet peas, singularly appropriate to the youthful bride-to-be and the bevy of buds around her.

The pink and white color scheme was carried out in the elaborate courses served.

The dinner hour was one of distinctive charm and its climax came when a snow white rabbit, with an announcement card tied around her neck with a big pink bow, substituted for the traditional cat, and walked out of the bag.

Good wishes were showered upon the future bride, a beautiful girl, whose blushes but enhanced her attractions. Miss Sexton's very becoming gown was of lavender messa-line, veiled in chiffon.

The charming young hostess was wearing a chic gown of pink marquisette trimmed in pink satin bands.

After the dinner Mr. Inskeep arrived with attendant young men and received his share of the congratulations.

The evening was concluded in a gay little dance, for which Horstman provided splendid music.

The guests included with Miss Sexton, Misses Mabel and Ethel Calvert, Fanny Dahl, Ruth Perrill, Rose Noble, Ruth Fultz, Messrs. Inskeep, Mark, Morris, Frank Blessing, Jess Millikan, Maynard Craig, Arthur Miller, Charles Willis, Mart Hughey.

The announcement will be received with interest by a large circle of friends.

Mr. Inskeep is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Inskeep and a popular young society fellow. The marriage will be an event of the near future and the young couple will make their home on the Inskeep farm near Urbana.

WOMEN PRAISE OUR NEW PREMIUM

During the past ten days The Herald Publishing Co. has sold a large number of National Vacuum cleaners in connection with the Daily Herald and Ohio State Register.

In every home where the machine has been installed the purchasers are highly pleased, and most of them cannot say enough in praise of this wonderfully successful cleaner.

In today's issue of The Herald, on page eight, we present for the first time the opinions of one dozen of the foremost ladies of Washington and Fayette county, all of whom are using the National Vacuum Cleaner and have found it to be much more than is claimed for it.

The opinions of these women, whom you know, are an infallible index. It shows that the National Vacuum Cleaner is doing all that we claim it will do. In the face of such testimony there is no real reason left for doubt. The cleaners are fully guaranteed.

If you have not carefully read the large advertisement, do so now and make up your mind to own one of these splendid cleaners while you can.

Petit Jury Busy

After considerable delay the petit jury was summoned and appeared ready for duty Tuesday morning, and the case of Ohio against Gilbert Synder was commenced.

SOCIETY

The engagement of Miss Florence Saxton and Mrs. Harold Inskeep was announced Monday night at a brilliant little dinner given by Miss Anna Rowe, who is home from the Ohio State University for the semesters vacation.

The table was laid with eight covers and its dainty embellishment of pink and white sweet peas, singularly apposite to the youthful bride-to-be and the bevy of buds around her. The pink and white color scheme was carried out in the elaborate courses served.

The dinner hour was one of distinctive charm and its climax came when a snow white rabbit, with an announcement card tied around her neck with a big pink bow, substituted for the traditional cat, and walked out of the bag.

Good wishes were showered upon the future bride, a beautiful girl, whose blushes but enhanced her attractions. Miss Saxton's very becoming gown was of lavender messine, veiled in chiffon.

The charming young hostess was wearing a chic gown of pink marquise trimmed in pink satin bands.

After the dinner Mr. Inskeep arrived with attendant young men and received his share of the congratulations.

The evening was concluded in a gay little dance, for which Horstman provided splendid music.

The guests included with Miss Saxton, Misses Mabel and Ethel Calvert, Fauny Dahl, Ruth Perrill, Rose Noble, Ruth Fultz. Messrs. Inskeep, Mark, Morris, Frank Blessing, Jess Millikan, Maynard Craig, Arthur Miller, Charles Willis, Mart Hughes.

The announcement will be received with interest by a large circle of friends.

The trip will be made via the Southern Pacific route, stopping enroute at New Orleans and El Paso. Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Ireland will probably accompany Mr. and Mrs. Baker.

Mr. Harry Pugsley is enjoying an extensive southern trip, visiting Jacksonville, St. Augustine and Palm Beach, Florida. At St. Augustine he expects to take the steamer for an ocean trip to Washington, D. C., returning from there early in March.

THE UNDervalued BANANA.

The dictum that fruits should be eaten "in their season" finds its limitations as regards variety in the temperate zones at certain periods of the year. There is, however, one fruit which is readily available fresh in American markets at practically all seasons, although it grows best from November to April in its tropical or semitropical home. It is unfortunate that an article of diet which meets certain nutritive requirements so well and is so easily obtained at reasonable cost as the banana should be the subject of much misunderstanding among both physicians and laymen. For despite the fact that over forty million bunches are reported to have been brought to the United States last year, it is popularly stated in many quarters that the banana is difficult of digestion and may give rise to alimentary distress.

A closer consideration of the composition of the banana may serve to elucidate the situation. The fruit is brought to our northern markets green, and is ripened by artificial heat. This process can be hastened or delayed within certain limits according to the momentary demands of the retail trade. The color of the peel gives evidence of the degree of ripeness. The green banana contains, in the part exclusive of the skin, about 1.5 per cent. of protein and 20 to 25 per cent. of carbohydrate, almost entirely starch. In the ripe banana, with yellow-brown peel, the edible part contains somewhat less (16 to 19 per cent.) of carbohydrate; but that which remains is now almost entirely in the form of soluble sugars. Broadly speaking, then, the ripe banana is about one-fifth sugar; the green, one-fifth starch. Most of the remainder of the edible pulp is water. Intermediate degrees of ripeness present starch and sugar in reciprocal proportions varying between the limits set above.

Inasmuch as bananas are commonly eaten uncooked, it is obvious that more or less raw starch will be ingested if the fruit is not ripe, i. e., if the skin has not begun to shrivel and darken. Raw starch may be singularly irritating to the alimentary tract of man and is at best poorly utilized, whether it be ingested in the form of uncooked potatoes, chestnuts, bananas or other native starchy foods. No one would advise the use of uncooked potatoes; yet many people eschew a thoroughly ripe banana in the belief that this wholesome fruit is "rotten" when the skin becomes darkened, whereas they eagerly eat the yellow-green starch-bearing fruit at a stage of incomplete ripeness. "Green" bananas, like "green" apples, are unwholesome so long as the starch has not been adequately converted into sugars in the ripening processes. But the delicious and innocuous ripe banana should not be made to suffer in its dietary reputation because of the ignorance of the consumer. Here is a chance for popular education, says The Journal of the American Medical Association in a recent editorial.

Experience shows that the thoroughly ripe banana (or the less ripe fruit, after cooking) is undeserving of the unfavorable reputation which it has won in certain quarters. It forms a useful addition to the dietary, richer in nutrients and far more delicious than some of its more expensive competitors.

While They Have Bad Points, Athletics Are Good For All

Men and Women, Young and Old,

Seek to Overcome Harmful Defects

By SAMUEL B. M'CORMICK, Chancellor of University of Pittsburgh

WHILE SOMETIMES EXCESSIVE, SOMETIMES UNETHICAL, SOMETIMES ILL DIRECTED, SOMETIMES PROFESSIONAL, SOMETIMES TENDING TO SERIOUS EVIL, YET ATHLETICS ARE GOOD FOR MEN AND FOR WOMEN, FOR YOUNG AND FOR OLD.

COMPETITIVE ATHLETICS IN ALL FORMS AND IN ALL PLACES ARE GOOD in spite of some bad elements and some bad concomitants, exactly as summer is good in spite of its electric storms and cyclones and winter is good in spite of its excessive freezings and thawings.

Athletics are therefore to be accepted as we accept the seasons, seeking to overcome and remedy harmful defects, just as we seek to provide against excessive heat and cold, against droughts and storm and flood in the physical world.

THE PHYSICAL EXERCISE WHICH BELONGS TO THE PLAY SIDE OF HUMAN NATURE IS A FUNDAMENTAL NECESSITY IN THE PRODUCTION OF THE KIND OF MANHOOD WHICH IS TO DOMINATE THE EARTH.

PATERNAL THEORY.

In theory, father gets up at the dawn, And ere he puts anything permanent on Runs down to the basement and picks up a shovel. And throws on some coal to get heat in the hovel. In theory, father devotes his whole soul To sifting the ashes and shoveling the coal. And then with the grating industriously tinkers And gropes with his hand for immovable clinkers.

In theory, father in summer at dawn Is eagerly running to barbers the lawn; And, singing a song that proclaims jubilation. Gives thanks to his gods for this fine recreation!

In theory, father swears not at the rock That shatters his blade with a terrible shock. But, blending philosophy in with his smiling.

Goes cheerfully into his new job of filing!

In theory, father is swift on his wing To beat out the carpets to meet his wife's wishes. Considers it pleasure to help wipe the dishes!

In fact, taken purely in theory, dad Is always agreeable, never gets mad; Is up with the birds, and his soul is poetical— But you understand, friend, this is all theoretical!

Then Representative Payne of New York, senior Republican member of the ways and means committee, moved to recommit the bill with instructions that it be kept in the ways and means committee until the report of the tariff board on the iron and steel schedule came to the house from President Taft. Seek to Overcome Harmful Defects

By SAMUEL B. M'CORMICK, Chancellor of University of Pittsburgh

WHILE SOMETIMES EXCESSIVE, SOMETIMES UNETHICAL, SOMETIMES ILL DIRECTED, SOMETIMES PROFESSIONAL, SOMETIMES TENDING TO SERIOUS EVIL, YET ATHLETICS ARE GOOD FOR MEN AND FOR WOMEN, FOR YOUNG AND FOR OLD.

Competitive ATHLETICS IN ALL FORMS AND IN ALL PLACES ARE GOOD in spite of some bad elements and some bad concomitants, exactly as summer is good in spite of its electric storms and cyclones and winter is good in spite of its excessive freezings and thawings.

Athletics are therefore to be accepted as we accept the seasons, seeking to overcome and remedy harmful defects, just as we seek to provide against excessive heat and cold, against droughts and storms and flood in the physical world.

THE PHYSICAL EXERCISE WHICH BELONGS TO THE PLAY SIDE OF HUMAN NATURE IS A FUNDAMENTAL NECESSITY IN THE PRODUCTION OF THE KIND OF MANHOOD WHICH IS TO DOMINATE THE EARTH.

FATHERLY THEORY.

In theory, father gets up at the dawn, And ere he puts anything permanent on Runs down to the basement and picks up a shovel. And throws on some coal to get heat in the house. In theory, father devotes his whole soul To sifting the ashes and shoveling the coal. And then with the grating industriously tinkers And gropes with his hand for immovable clinkers.

In theory, father in summer at dawn is eagerly running to barbers the lawn; And, singing a song that proclaim jubilation. Gives thanks to his gods for this fine recreation! In theory, father swears not at the rock That shatters his blade with a terrible shock. But, blending philosophy in with his smiling. Goes cheerfully into his new job of filing!

In theory, father is swift on his wing To beat out the carpets to meet his wife's wishes. Considers it pleasure to help wipe the dishes! In fact, taken purely in theory, dad is always agreeable, never gets mad; is up with the birds, and his soul is poetical— But you understand, friend, this is all theoretical!

Taft Spends A Busy Day

Among the out of town visitors drawn to Columbus by the president's visit are Senator Burton of Cleveland and General Charles H. Grosvenor of Athens.

Before leaving the city tomorrow afternoon President Taft will hold a reception for Ohio editors at the Southern hotel and will address the constitutional convention.

ASKS FURTHER TRIAL

Taft Tells Cleveland Auditors Tariff
Needs More Revision.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 30.—In a ringing political speech at the McKinley day banquet of the Tippecanoe club, President Taft vigorously defended his administration and declared the Republican party under his leadership had fulfilled pledges made in the last national platform. Mr. Taft's speech practically marks the opening of the Republican national campaign, and it will undoubtedly be used as the keynote of the political spell-binders. He declared that the Republican party was backed by a strong record and the rank and file of the Republican party should have no fear of the outcome of the next presidential election.

The defeat of the Republicans in 1910 was due, the president said, to defections of Republicans rather than to an increase in the Democratic strength.

"I think it will be found," said Mr. Taft, "that in studying the platform of the Republican party that we are in a position to say to the people of the country that we have performed to the letter most of our promises, and with respect to those where fulfillment does not seem complete, we are in a position now, if given power, more fully to redeem them than ever."

Speech Cordially Received.

The president's speech was cordially received by the 500 guests who had gathered from all parts of the Buckeye state. Mr. Taft paid a tribute to the late President McKinley, who, he said, had called him from the bench into a political life.

The Payne-Aldrich tariff law, Mr. Taft said, was not a complete compliance with the Republican party pledges, but it did contain substantial revisions. Other schedules, he added, notably the woolen and cotton schedules, needed modification, and will be changed if the Republican party is kept in power by the people in the coming elections.

Mr. Taft defended the tariff commission and insisted that all tariff legislation should be "intelligent and not destructive." The president justified the prosecutions of the giant monopolistic corporations under the Sherman anti-trust law and expressed the belief that the criticism of the administration for its vigorous trust-busting is subsidizing.

He pointed out that in its attitude toward the railroads the Republican party's pledges have been carried out to the letter by the enactment of legislation for better and more uniform enforcement of the interstate commerce law by the establishment of the commerce court, and by passing additional safety appliance acts. The position of the Republican party, Mr. Taft added, on the question of conservation, has been continued, but is still incomplete.

Talked Peace at Luncheon.

The speech at the McKinley banquet was the most important feature of an exceptionally crowded day's program. At a luncheon given by the chamber of commerce the president made a speech urging the ratification of the pending arbitration treaties with France and Great Britain. In the afternoon he had a political conference with Former Governor Herrick, A. L. Vorys, Republican national committeeman from Ohio, and William H. Miller, former assistant attorney general of Ohio, at which the general situation in the state was discussed.

"The prospects of Mr. Taft's nomination and re-election," Mr. Vorys said after the conference, "are improving daily. The entire Ohio delegation to the Chicago convention—46 votes—will be cast for the president."

Ohio Man to Run Campaign.

Washington, Jan. 30.—An Ohio man will have charge of the Taft headquarters that are soon to be opened here for the purpose of promoting the campaign for the renomination of Mr. Taft. Myron T. Herrick, former governor of Ohio, and Arthur L. Vorys, who managed the Taft campaign in Ohio in 1908, are the men now being considered most seriously for this place.

Smells Like Good Coffee! Tastes Like Good Coffee!

But Has Not One of the Bad Effects of Coffee

Here at last is the drink for everybody who likes the taste of good coffee. It is especially for those who know that coffee hurts them.

This perfect coffee substitute is called Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. Remember the name—Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. There's nothing else on the market like it.

Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is not a tasteless cereal drink—not a vile-tasting decoction. It is a real drink, with all the tempting fragrance—all the satisfying flavor—of the finest coffee.

And not a headache—not a pang—not a moment's regret in it.

No matter how sensitive your stomach, Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is good for you. Drink all you want of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. It won't hurt you. It will help you.

Fitch's Grains of Health

The Coffee Substitute With the Coffee Taste

It took fourteen years to perfect Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH—the first real coffee substitute. Brilliant chemists joined their labors with coffee experts from the great plantations—men who have had a lifetime of experience with coffee—who know coffee from the seed to the cup.

They had a big idea. It was not to find something to take the place of coffee—but how to treat coffee so that the harm would be left out and the matchless taste and flavor kept in.

A Fascinating Story of Science and Perseverance

Everybody knows that the principle in coffee which causes all the harm is Caffeine. It is caffeine that affects the heart. Enough caffeine can be taken to arrest the heart.

How to neutralize or take out the caffeine without destroying the coffee taste was the task of these chemists and coffee experts.

They succeeded! They did more! They added natural health-building elements that correct ills of the digestive system and tone up the entire system. The perfected result is Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH.

It is a very simple combination. Test it as you will, you won't find one thing detrimental to health.

Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH has a special high-grade blend of coffee in it—but so combined with herbs, roots and vegetables that the caffeine is counteracted.

Even children can drink all they want of it without the least bad effect.

Note the Good Effects of Fitch's Grains of Health

The herbs, roots and vegetables in Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH give it a positive medicinal effect.

We have multitudes of testimonials—some from distinguished physicians—to show that Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH speedily alleviates Indigestion, Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Constipation, etc.

One of the ill effects of coffee drinking is constipation.

If your grocer cannot supply you, write us, mentioning his name, and we will send you a generous sample package of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH (enough to serve a large family at breakfast) and a booklet telling you all about Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. Enclose 6 cents in stamps for postage.

Here are extracts from three of the hundreds of letters written about Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. You can have the names on request. We offer $1,000 to anyone who can prove that any testimonial we print is not genuine.

From a Business Man—"I have used Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH and find it far superior to any coffee we ever used. It is all you claim—a coffee that everybody can drink and feel better after drinking it."

From a Doctor—"Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH has all the good drinking qualities of coffee and does not have harmful effects. It is good for the sick or the well. And as it has the coffee taste and flavor, anyone can enjoy it whether they need a health drink or not."

From a Woman—"I had suffered with severe headaches and sleepless nights. My grocer told me to quit coffee and try Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. I bought a package. I drank it three times a day. My headaches and nervousness have left me and I enjoy a good night's rest. I will not be without Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH."

Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is sold by all leading grocers. The price is 30 cents the pound. It is ground, ready for use. It is just as easy to prepare as coffee. But only half as much of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is required as coffee—a teaspoonful to a cup. Therefore, it really costs only half as much as good coffee.

GREAT RELIGIOUS WAVE SWEEPS CENTER LOCALITY

LITTLE CHILDREN LEAD THE WAY

Over Three-score Conversions at Center Church and Revival Continues Unabated---Entire Families Included in Unusual Religious Wave.

What is probably the greatest religious wave in the history of Center Church, near Luttrell, in Jasper township, has been sweeping the neighborhood the past four weeks, and about seventy persons have been converted and united with the M. E. church at that place.

The revival is being conducted by Rev. H. O. Collins, the regular minister, and he has been ably assisted by a corps of workers in the society.

Children, young men and young women, aged men and women and entire families have responded to the religious wave, and joined their penitent neighbors at the church altar.

It is the greatest religious revival the community has ever witnessed, and meetings have been announced for a week ahead. The church is thronged with people every night, and interest continues unabated.

The revival started among the children, and the older brothers, sisters and fathers and mothers followed the example of the boys and girls.

Note Was Burned Suit to Collect

Orval Plymire has brought proceedings against N. M. Jones and E. C. Baugh for the collection of $208.01 alleged to be due on a promissory note given Sept. 3rd and payable in 30 days. C. E. Baugh represents the plaintiff.

The plaintiff alleges that the note was for $350, and bore interest at 7 per cent. That the note was not indorsed by plaintiff and on Dec. 30, 1911, it was destroyed by fire and he has no true copy of the note.

Plaintiff says that on Dec. 25 a credit of $100 was given on the note, and on Jan. 18, 1912, a payment of $50 was made, but no other payments. He asks judgment for $203.01 and interest from Jan. 18, 1912.

Watterson Incensed Over Governor Wilson's Silence.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Colonel Henry Watterson fired a parting shot at Woodrow Wilson. The colonel is much incensed because Governor Wilson has declined to accept his challenge to refer the question of veracity between them as to the colonel's activity in collecting a Wilson campaign fund to a "court of honor for settlement."

"The sole issue," says Mr. Watterson in his latest statement, "is whether I have lied, as Governor Wilson says I have, or he has lied, which I have engaged conclusively to show. He dare not face these facts."

The point at issue is whether Colonel Watterson was asked by Wilson's campaign manager to help finance the Wilson boom.

EXERCISE TO DEVELOP CHEST

Simple Movements That Are Guaranteed by an Authority to Produce Good Results.

Look at your figure in the next full length mirror you see. Nine chances out of ten your chest caves in, your shoulders round like a bow, your stomach protudes and your chin is thrust forward like a prize fighter's.

Now try an experiment. Take a long breath, push your chest out and hold it to that position. Behold a miracle. Your shoulders straighten till your back is like a line, your stomach retreats and your chin assumes a position of modest dignity. Now you are standing correctly, and if you place any value at all upon a good appearance you must practice this position until it becomes second nature. Remember that the grand secret is, "Push out the chest." The rest of the figure will take of itself.

If your chest is flat and narrow you ought, in the interest of both health and beauty, to try to develop it. Breathing exercises are the best thing for this purpose. Singers and public speakers almost always have good chests, because they are trained to breathe deeply and correctly.

Breathing exercises are best performed at night, when all heavy clothing, the corset in particular, has been removed. The window should be open, for there is no profit in taking bad air into your lungs.

Stand erect, with hands close to the sides. Inhale slowly and evenly through the nose. Hold the breath as long as you possibly can, then exhale slowly and evenly through the mouth. Do this ten times each night. You will soon notice an increase in the length of time you can hold the breath. Practice taking long breaths when you are walking.

Dumb-bell and Indian club exercises are excellent for chest development. Go at them a bit gently at first, especially if you are not very strong. There are other simple home exercises which will help you in this direction. For instance, lie flat on the back on the floor, with legs and arms straight and knees close together. Now try to rise to sitting position without touching elbows to the floor. You won't be able to do it at first, but you soon will be if you practice the exercise faithfully, and in the meantime your chest is reaping the benefit of the practice.—Woman's World.

Concluded He Had Been Bribed.

Kellogg Durland, the author of "Royal Romances of Today," after spending a morning with the children of King Alfonso of Spain and finding them bright, normal, healthy youngsters, was surprised to be engaged by people in his hotel in conversation like the following: "What a pity that the princes are not right in their faculties." "But they are perfectly right," I replied, indulgently; "those stories are pure nonsense." "Oh, no, sir! You must be mistaken." "How can I be mistaken?" I answered. "I have just spent a morning with them and I found them not only normal in every way, but particularly intelligent." "That cannot be," was the reply, "because it is said they are defective." The writer grew indignant and broke off the controversy, but learned that after he left people had speculated on how much he had been paid by the king to say that the princes were all right.

What He Took.
Hilary K. Adair, the western detective, was praising at a banquet in Dubuque the generous warmth accorded by John D. Rockefeller to sheriffs, bailiffs and other myrmidons of the law.

"They don't get treated at John D.'s," said Mr. Adair, "as old Cluss once treated me."

"Cluss runs, you know, a saloon. I was waiting in his place one cold December night to nab a bigamist, when Cluss came out from an inner room wrapped in a heavy ulster."

"Why, hello, Adair!" he said, shaking me warmly by the hand. "I'm glad to see you. What'll you take?"

"Well," said I, "I don't know—I'm not particular—"

"Cluss, who had been watching me anxiously, now butted in with the words:

"Good! Slip on your overcoat, then, and we'll take a walk. I was starting out!"—Exchange.

In The Grip of Alcohol

The greatest moral drama ever made by any film manufacturer. It throbs and pulsates with human interest. It awakens fathers to the possible dangers to their sons. It arouses the latent will power in those unfortunates who have become addicted to drink. It paints the terrors of the fatal downward path in a manner which no one can ignore. It shows no brutality—just the awful spectacle of the downfall of one of God's creatures through the drink evil. It follows his life for eight years—eight years of slow death for him; eight years of relentless misery for his devoted wife; eight years of hardship and deprivation for his little sick daughter; eight years of self-torture, loss of self-respect, the attainment of self-loathing—all because drink is what it is and because a man had not the backbone to say "NO!"

A Difference of Terms.

"I met a friend of mine the other day who is a strawberry culturist, and whom I had seen at the races. I remarked to him 'The last time I saw you, you were watching the horses.' And what do you suppose he answered?"

"What did he say?"

"He said: 'I am doing just the opposite now. Then I was trying to pick the winners; now I am trying to win the pickers.'"

Explained.

"A man blew into my house one day while I was living out west and—"

"I detect slang. Do you mean to say that a man called on you one day while you were living out west?"

"He didn't call of his own volition. He blew into my house through a hole in the roof, and, as a matter of fact, was pushed by a cyclone."

The Brighter Side.

"I suppose it was a bitter disappointment to you," said the old maid, "when you found out after the wedding that your husband had no money."

"Yes, it was in a way," replied the middle-aged bride. "Still I had the consolation of knowing I was married."

Too True.

Mrs. Bacon—Did you see that talking doll that they wind up at the store?"

Mr. Brown—Yes, I did.

"Acts almost like a human being, doesn't it?"

"No, it doesn't. You never heard a woman stop talking because you didn't wind her up."—Yonkers Statesman.

RIGHT.

Willie—Say, paw, what's the first maxim a business man should learn? Paw—That mailing bills ain't collecting money.

Difficult.

To think well of one's neighbor is rather hard to do.

When, spite of all your labor, He won't think well of you.

A Warning.

"Fred tells me he has made it one of his good resolutions this year to pay all his debts."

"Then, take a friend's advice and steer clear of him, or he will be coming to you to borrow the money."

The Usual Sign.

"Look how excited and angry the crowd of people coming from the building are! I wonder what's the matter?"

"I guess they have been having a peace meeting inside."

A Trade Term.

"Are you hungry, my poor man?"

"Very hungry, sir."

"Hungry enough to eat a horse?"

"No, sir, but I think I could manage to dispose of a 'hot dog.'"

A Short Probation.

"What did Ethel say when you pressed her to marry you soon?"

"She said I would have to wait; she would have to put me off till next year."

The Difference.

"The goddesses of old were ox-eyed."

"Not much of a change. The goddesses now are peroxide."

His Specialty.

"That doctor didn't treat me well."

"My dear madam, it is a doctor's business to treat people ill."

Raised a 'Fusion Placed in Cage

Ralph Woodruff, a man employed on the Cherry Hill school building who was arrested last fall and fought the officer who arrested him until it was necessary to use his mace to subdue Woodruff, was arrested by Chief McCoy Tuesday morning, charged with drunk and disorderly conduct.

Woodruff was raising a disturbance at his room place on West Court street, and two empty quart bottles bore evidence of his source of contamination. He was placed in the cage at the Mayor's office and allowed to sober up until the hour of his hearing Tuesday afternoon.

When arraigned before Mayor Smith Woodruff entered a plea of guilty and was given $5 and the costs, which he made arrangements to pay.
